- It is difficult to give data about number of patients who have a diagnosis of psychosis as the population NHS Tayside manages is not static. NHS Tayside inpatient service is a tertiary service therefore a lot of patients come from elsewhere in the secure hospital estate around Scotland

In summary the numbers of patients NHS Tayside manage who have a diagnosis of psychosis is around 80. This includes inpatient and community but does not include prison or NHS Tayside patients being managed in other secure hospitals elsewhere in Scotland.
